Bechtel International Center, Stanford University
584 Capistrano Way, Assembly Room

Seventy-five years ago, Executive Order 9066 paved the way to the profound violation of constitutional rights that resulted in the forced incarceration of 120,000 Japanese Americans. Featuring George Takei and many others who were incarcerated, as well as newly rediscovered photographs of Dorothea Lange, this film brings history into the present, retelling this difficult story and following Japanese American activists as they speak out against the Muslim registry and travel ban.

Following the screening there will be a discussion with the co-director/producer Abby Ginzberg and Dr. Satsuki Ina, psychotherapist, the subject of the film, moderated by Jasmina Bojic, Camera as Witness Program Director and Founder of the international documentary film festival UNAFF.

Light lunch will be served
FREE and open to the general public
