OSCAR NOMINATED DAUGHTER FROM DANANG

(83 min)

Director: Gail Dolgin and Vicente Franco

Towards the end of the Vietnam War, thousands of Vietnamese and Amerasian were given up for adoption to the U.S. as part of "Operation Babylift." One of those children was seven year old Mai Thi Hiep, who was adopted by a woman in Tennessee and renamed Heidi. Daughter from Danang tells the poignant story of Heidi and her Vietnamese birth mother, separated by the war. When reunited 22 years later, Heidi feels a profound alienation from her Vietnamese past while her mother's desperate need for financial assistance obscure their common love and longing.
